Sign up for the FIRELEX Hackathon 2019

We're looking for young lawyers who want to learn how to code. Get free training, acquire a 21st century skill in weeks and impress your partners (and your coder friends). The catch? There's none. Get invited to the FIRELEX showcase for a chance to present your project and become the FIRELEX lawyer of the year

How it works

Sign up at www.firelex.com/hackathon2019

Pick a routine legal document that you or other lawyers at your firm have to draft frequently (e.g., a particular type of agreement or legal opinion). Then code it up on the FIRELEX platform using nothing but JavaScript, the world's most popular scripting language.

From September 1 to September 30, our coding experts will come to your offices once a week for training and to answer your questions.

All participants will be invited to an event at a London venue in October, where they will present their projects to a jury of lawyers and coders, who will pick the FIRELEX lawyer of the year.

But... I'm not a coder

Doesn't matter. Whatever your level of experience, if you're smart enough to draft a contract, you're smart enough for us to turn you into a coder. Watch our video at www.firelex.com to see how it easy it is.
